Mumbai Meri Jaan. ENG Translation. 4K Hunter Zone. Rasta Bag, only indicators of their nature and status in the great firmament, and not so much of any human place in the universe. In that context, Einstein's answer to the great question will not tell us anything of our place in the universe. What is needed, rather, is the ability to view the news. It is not that we do not in fact know what we want, and what we must have. What we must have is, as the case may be, living in peace, safety, and security. What we must have is to see the news and be able to share in the enthusiasms of others, and to feel that we are part of a great and wonderful journey into the future. And what we must have is a good life, whatever that means. I believe that the only sure knowledge in life is that we do not know. The only fact about our world is that we do not know. We do not know if we are doing what is right. We do not know if we are advancing or holding back. We do not know if we are growing or diminishing. The only fact of our universe is that we do not know. We must therefore live our life without knowing. We may be sure of the things we know -- or we may not. But until we know, we must act. We have paid less attention to ideas that the spirit and soul are needed in the human condition, but we should be willing to consider that a great deal of our inventiveness and our genius are bound up with this dimension of human experience. We must bring back to life in others some sense of the presence of the spiritual, or, if one prefers, of the mystic, intuition, or the aletheia [idea-dawn] of the great open vision that is the hallmark of the spiritual. We must help our students to understand that it is not just about thinking, or even about doing. What is most important is about being. The ego, the ego of the individual, is not going to be very good at coming up with these kinds of intellectual insights and visions. It is no use to the "the field." Ego is afraid of "the field" -- of the unknown, of the mysterious, and, in a way, of reality. They may well not have real knowledge that gives them such an ability. What they do have is the f678ea9f9e
